

SYSTEM AND METHOD FOR MANAGING CONTRACT LABOR ACTIVITIES

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Systems and methods for managing contract labor activities are disclosed. A system and method could include the capability to receive a contract labor request and disseminate information regarding the contract labor request to vendors. A system and method could also include the capability to receive and distribute resumes of candidates from vendors and generate a message containing a purchase order for the services of the selected candidate. A system and method could further include the capability to receive a compensation request associated with the purchase order and generate a message for invoicing when the compensation request is approved.